the debate of a couple of statesmen the folks who packed the Senate gafferies yesterday probably never would have remembered that it was time to get up and go home.

The Hon. Willie Opshaw, of Georgia, is held spellbound in a Senate gallery by the oratory of Jim Reed and a process server.

As we understand the big booze bicker in the Senate Bill Borah is convinced by the arguments of Jim Reed that prohibition is a failure Whether Leading Citizens but won't admit it.

What's the idea of the Commissioners of the District wasting the taxpayers' money on a spectacular trial of Capt. Burlingame if those who have made the charges won't appear against him in court? Everybody is entitled to be confronted by his accusers and until this is done the authorities would be justified in Collins Says He Proposes to putting an end to this farce and permitting the policeman to get his mind back on his work.

With all due respect for Col. Lindbergh we incline to the opinion that he knows a heap more about flying than he does about reorganizing the Army.

Borah Begins His Reply.

Borah called upon his most sonorous ones as he replied. He first paid tribute to Reed. "Those of us who have served with him during these long years—some of them tragic years, and have come to know of his great qualities, regard his retirement as not only a loss to this body, but a loss to the country. It is the retirement not of an ordinary man, it is the retirement of an extraordinary man, a man whose industry and courage and genius have placed him among the foremost men of his

"I regret that he is voluntarily to than the sporadic utterance of some insane person the matter would not be worth the mentioning, but the spirit is abroad in the land and people seemed to have conceived the idea that whatsover could be done under any law that may be passed is just and righteous; that the form of the law sanctions and justifies any cruelty, and atrecity."

If regret that he is voluntarily to retire. I trust, however, Mr. President, that he will find time from the engagements of his prefession, of which he is a distinct ornament, to consider and discuss public questions; that we may have the benefit at least in that way of those attributes of mind and qualities of character with which he is so richly and so royally endowed. As these are the qualities of character with which he is or richly and so royally endowed. As these are the closing days of the session I feel I could not say less and if I should consult my feelings in full I would say much more."

"The able senator." continued Borah, "said that prohibition was the crime of crimes which had been committed.

of crimes, which had been committed of crimes, which had been committed in the matter of legislation in the United States. With that I can not agree. It may be a mistake, Mr. President, the people of the United States may have erred in their judgment. Time and experience alone will demonstrate that fact. But it is not a crime. The people of the United States were in sincerity struggling with that which was deemed to be one of the great evils of modern civilization. great evils of modern civilization. The latter is a recreation ground maintained by the Knights of Columbus of the United States.

The pontiff explained that if he had accepted these tracts he would have acguired a number of "subjects" and he wished to do everything possible to avoid that status. He reiterated that he had not been inspired by any desire for territory or purely tempora ower in making the treaty.

Had he accepted the two pieces of and he would have had to allow there many families, including numerous children, from around the Vatican There would have been several hundred such persons in all

Opposed Uniting Dissension.

In the Oratory there would have been children belonging to families of perhaps different political opinions. The groups might have included members of the Balilla, the Fascist boys' organization, and youngster's belonging to the Catholic Boy Scouts, which were dis-solved by the Italian government de-cree of last year.

The Pope reasoned that under those circumstances almost anything might happen and he saw no need of run-ning the risk of inviting dissension. Moreover the oratory belongs to the Knights of Columbus and while that organization was ready to p ent it to the Holy See, that step had not been

The new Vatican boundary is limited by the arches leading into the square of St. Peters, so the most valuable property adjoining it is that which is property adjoining it is that which is on the left side as one goes up to the Vatican gardens. In fact Cardinal Casparri, p pal secretary of state, remarked the other day to the Prench and German Ambassadors:

"If you wish to come here and live inside the Vatican you will be welcome."

come.' Sentries Kept on Wall.

He explained that this triangle would be adequate for several embassies and legations which might be constructed so as to be entiraly apart from the Vatican proper. They could have their own exits and would not in any way interfere with Vatican services. Referring again to Reed, Borah went on:

"I shall not, of course, take issue with the able senator upon the question that there are violations of the law. I know that. I certainly shall not iaw. I know that. I certainly shall not take issue with him upon the question that the law has led to corruption. I know that. I sall his attention to the fact, however, that there never has been a law placed upon the statute books of any civilized nation on the earth with reference to liquor that the liquor forces did not undertake that the liquor forces did not under-take to break down, to violate, to un-dermine, to corrupt the officials. It is the history of liquor legislation from the beginning until this hour. It is not within the ingenuity of the human mind to devise a liquor law that will be satisfactory to the liquor inter-cats.

Borah turned his fire then on the advocates of nullification, whom he denounced as "traitors." He quoted extracts from nullificationist articles, but failed to name the "traitorous" authors. He said the story that Lincoln coun-seled violation of the fugitive slave law was a "cowardly slander." Borah quoted reports from Canadian provinces, from England and Italy to prove that liquor remains a vital prob-iem where there is no prohibition or where there is government control.

Urges Fight Be Made. "Possibly we can not ever prevent the use of alcoholic drinks," he added, "but shall we continue or shall we surrender in the fight? So far as I am concerned, Mr. President, so long as it is written in the Constitution of the United States, that the sale of intoxicating liquors is injurious to the public welfare and that that embodies the policy of the people. I prothe public welfare and that that embodies the policy of the people, I propose in every way that is reasonable and fair to undertake to maintain that Constitution. Let us all combine in that effort."

Heflin, who never falls to speak when the galleries are as packed as they were yesterday, followed with another dry exhortation. Sheppard came next, attributing sil the blessings of prosperity to prohibition. Bruce (Democrat), Maryland, was as violent against it as Sheppard was ardent in favor of it. Caraway put in a few slaps at Reed, accusing him of lacking the courage to name the wet-drinking drys, and of having pussyfooted on the issue when he aspired to the Democratic nomination at Houston.

CONVICTION HELD INVALID

(Associated Press.)

Arguing that Harry F. Committee Named to Decide on Basis of Procedure in Determining Debts.

REPORT EXPECTED TODAY

Paris, Feb. 18 (A.P.) .- The question of the procedure to be followed in drawing up a final agreement on the reparations problem is now before the committee of experts.

The committee found this morning when it proposed to grapple with the principal points of its mission, that a little further preparation would be required before it took up the vital issue of the amount of annuities and reparations total.

The experts went over a few more points concerning Germany's economic situation and then decided to appoint a subcommittee to frame a report for ontinuation of the committee's work.

COURT PAVES CLAIM

Refuses to Reconsider Ruling That Allowed Inquiry Into Tract California Sold.

U. S. SEEKS TO GAIN TITLE

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court yesterday gave the Government an unobstructed course, for it to determine whether the Standard Oil Co. of California holds valid title to valuable oil lands in Kern County, Calif., embraced within the Elk Hills naval oil reserve. The final obstacle in the Government's pathway was removed yesterday by the court's refusal to reconsider its recent decision, which held that the Secretary of the Interior could conduct an inquiry to determine whether the land in question was known to be min-eral at the time it was surveyed. An attempt by the present adminis-tration to examine the title was prevented by the courts of the District of Columbia, which held that Albert B. Fall, while Secretary of the Interior, had closed the matter by awarding the land to the Standard Oil Co.

The Supreme Court, however, found that Fall's action was not final. Should it develop that the land was known to be mineral when surveyed, the Government will cla'm it, contending that it never lawfully passed to California as school lands and that its e sale by California to the Standard Oil Co. did not give that company title to it. The Government hopes that it will be enabled to add the land to its k'k

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

After deducting amounts re-assured, the boldings, contributed substantially to this gratotal assurances in force now amount to $1,896,915,934.57, an increase of $408,925,254.48. Policies in force number 633,240, and in addition, tifying result. A net profit of $11,028,854.59 has been realized 136,293 certificates of assurance are held by employees of corporations and firms under the group plan. While every field of operation contributed its full share to these impressive advances, the rapid development of our business in Great Britain and the United States is especially noteworthy. The generous reception of our Company in countries served by powerful domestic institutions is particularly gratifying, as testifying to widespread appreciation of our record and services. . . The amount paid to policyholders since organization, together with the amount at present held for their security or benefit, exceeds the total amount received from them in premiums by $111,370,229.10.

The strength and resources of the Company have been still further enhanced.

The net rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets, after making provision for investment expenses, has risen to 6.58 per cent. Dividend increases, bonuses, and stock privileges, accruing on many of the Company's from the redemption or sale of securities which had risen to high premiums.

The securities listed in the assets have been valued at figures substantially below the values placed on them by the Government. This undervaluation of our securities represents an important safeguard against possible adverse market fluctuations, additional to the reserves specifically provided against that contingency.

We are again able to report that on the bonds and preferred stocks listed in the assets not one dollar, due either as interest or as dividend, is in arrear for a single day; while the dividends accruing to common stocks exceed by several million dollars those payable on the same stocks at the time of purchase.

The surplus earned during the year, based on the values given in the accounts, amounted to $40,264,088.52.

$10,000,000. has been deducted from the already heavily marked-down value of securities, as additional provision against possible fluctuations, increasing the amount so set aside to $20,000.000.

The special amount set aside as a liability to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been naintained at $12,500,000.

$15,822,339.65 has been paid or allotted as profits to policyholders during the year.

After making all deductions and allocations, $9,157,966.34 has been added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over liabilities, contingency accounts, and capital stock to $54,438,862.48.

The continued prosperity of the Company enables your Directors to announce, for the ninth successive year, a substantial increase in the scale of profits to be distributed to participating policy-holders during the ensuing year.

In addition, your Directors have inaugurated the principle of granting a Special Dividend on participating policies maturing after having been in force ten years or longer. This new bonus will enable policyholders or beneficiaries whose withdrawal is occasioned by the maturity of policy contracts, to participate in the accreof policy contracts, to participate in the accu-mulated surplus which it has not as yet been considered prudent to divide.

The effort to provide life assurance at the lowest net cost obtainable has been increasingly appreciated. Our policyholders will be gratified by this further evidence of our desire that the Company's prosperity shall be fully shared by

New York, Feb. 18 (A.P.) .- In a grav stone church made bright with thousands of blossoms, funeral services were held today for Melville E. Stone, the grand old man of American journalism. As the services began, the 120,000 miles of telegraph wires of the Associated Press, of which he was general manager for more than a quarter of a century, fell momentarily silent, and throughout the world the men and women who work in the news organization which grew under his leader-ship stood in silent tribute to his

Park Avenue Baptist Church, with the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, the pastor, officiating. The rites were sim-ple and brief, but solemnly impressive. A quartet sang "Abide With Me" and "Lead, Kindly Light." Dr. Fosdick read passages from the Old and New Testaments and a prayer in which he spoke of Mr. Stone's notable career. Then the casket, covered with 10ses, was borne out of the church. The pallbearers were men who had been connected with the Associated Press under Mr. Stone's management, the majority of them still being with the organization.

The woman whose beauty counsel sways Paris

Mme., Valentin LE BRUN

Director, L'Institut de Beauté, Paris

finds an ideal home beauty treatment

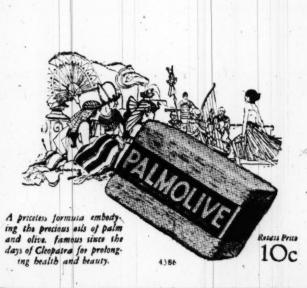

The distinguished Mme. le Brun, proprietor and founder of L'Institut de Beauté, Paris, explains how washing the face this way "produces loveliness on a healthy skin."

> "I strongly advise every woman who is anxious to retain perpetual beauty to make use, daily at home, of the specially blended Palmolive Soup, which is a powerful factor for promuting perfect skin hygiene. Other soaps, even more expensive ones, owing to their caustic nature, often irritate the epidermis and, in the end, tire and spoil it."

Paristan sanligh filter brough the windows of Alme La Brun's salon, while two operators demonstrate the remarkable results of Mme. Le Brun's principle for "producing loveliness on a healthy skin.

WHEN you visit L'Institut de Beauté at 26 Place Vendome, Paris, you will notice that it was founded "en 1885 par Mme. Valentin Le Brun." Madame Le Brun is still the head of this celebrated beauty salon, and today, at 73 years of age, her word is more powerful than ever on matters of skin care. For Mme. Le Brun has perpetuated the youthful appearance of many of the world's most renowned beauties, on the stage and among the aristocracy.

Like all of her disciples and her most illustrious colleagues, Madame Le Brun cannot over-emphasize the value of "thorough cleansing of the skin" as the most vital step toward personal loveliness.

Other Parisian Specialists agree

Her Parisian co-workers agree on this fundamental necessity Lina Cavalieri, the tormer opera star, now a famous cosmetician. De Lord et Bion, Massé; Vincent; Payot, all the leaders in Parisian beauty culture work first to assure foundation loveliness...by one means and one means only-Palmolive Soap!

Madame Le Brun finds that "Palmolive Soap . . . removes, without irritation, all the refuse which obstructs the pores and leaves the skin thoroughly cleansed and healthy . . . for the tonification of the skin, it should precede the use of my lotions, creams, etc., just as it should precede the application of all complexion cosmetics.

Echoed by the world's experts

In every country, in every world capital, one meets this same advice. Madame Bertha Jacobson of Mayfair, London; Elise Buck, of Berlin, Pessl, of Viennascores of others tell their smart patrons these same facts about skin care:

All day, the pores gather dirt and dust, oil, rouge, powder. Gradually, these impurities clog the surface of the skin. Unless they are removed every day, unattractive blemishes soon are likely to lead to complexion disorders of a more serious nature.

Nowhere in Paris will you find a more typically cosmopolisan clientete than L'Institut de Beauté enjoys. Throughout its 35 years of existence, this beauty salon has been visited by many of the world's most distinguished women.

The treatment experts advise

The way to counteract these dangers to skin youthfulness is this simple treatment: Massage the face gently for two full minutes with Palmolive lather. Rinse this off thoroughly, and with it all impurities and secretions. Follow with a cold rinse . . . to icy temperature, in the morning, as an astringent. All other treatments, all use of make-up should be preceded by this basic skin cleanser.

Your own beauty specialist, you will find, agrees with this statement. The leading experts in every city throughout the country recommend Palmolive Soap. They have helped to make it the most popular soap in the United States and 48 other countries.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHPLACE.

The restoration of historic Wakefield, birthplace of George Washington, situated on the Potomac River in Westmoreland County, Va., should be completed by 1932, the bicentennial anniversary of his birth. Mount Vernon, the Washington estate, is properly preserved and has come to be one of the Nation's most sacred patriotic shrines. Wakefield, although equally important from the historical standpoint, has service. not been restored and so does not occupy in the public mind the place to which it is entitled.

In 1923 there was organized the Wakefield National Memorial Association for the purpose of raising funds for the reconstruction of Wakefield. Yesterday the association announced the gift by John D. Rockefeller, jr., of about 267 acres of the estate, valued at $115,000, with the provision that the association raise an equal amount by public subscription before January 7, 1930. The total cost of the entire Wakefield project is approximately $500,000, a substantial part of which already friends-all his acquaintances, in fact, became has been raised.

Wakefield is one of the most sacred spots in America. It has been neglected all too long. The public should speed its contributions to the fund, so that the bicentennial celebration of George Washington's birth may not be made a mockery by the Nation's neglect of his birthplace and the graves of his fathers.

MARRIAGE LAW REFORM.

The Russell Sage Foundation has followed up its recent condemnation of "marriage market" towns with a series of recommendations designed to correct the abuses which were found to be most prevalent in a recent Nationwide survey. The recommendations are concerned solely with marriage, but the investigators assert that if laws in the 48 States were ade to conform to these higher standards, the work of the divorce courts would be substantially curtailed.

Since there are more than 6,000 marriage license clerks in the country doing their work entirely without supervision, the foundation suggests the establishment in each State of a bureau of marriage law supervision, preferably in the office of the registrar of vital statistics. Licenses would be issued only during regular hours, and the system of paying license clerks through fees collected from applicants would be abolished. These clerks would also be obliged to keep complete records, and to investigate all licenses issued and not returned by the official performing the ceremony. Justices would be especially commissioned to perform the civil ceremony, and all fees would go to the State treasury.

The provision requiring advanced notice of intention to marry, now in effect in some States, should be extended to all. Each candidate should be required to appear in person. within the State in which he or she lives. Licenses would be issued to candidates from outside the State only after they had presented a license previously issued in the place where the bride has residence, to prevent marriages in one State that are illegal in another. The foundation further urges that States which still allow girls to marry at the age of 12, with their parents' consent, raise the limit to 16. Marriage license clerks would be charged with the responsibility of verifying statements of the applicants as to age and

Finally, the recommendations urge that the "denominational bodies deal with the commercial practices of marrying parsons and let the clergy themselves, conscious of the rich social and spiritual implications of the marriage ceremony, develop standards for religious solemnization through their ministerial associations and as individuals and through instruction in theological seminaries." These recommendations come as the result of a comprehensive study of deficiencies in present laws. They should be of much value to States which now permit the sacred contract of marriage to become a subject for commercial

AMERICANS LIGHTLY TAXED.

While thousands of voices cry for lower taxes, condemning the Government for its inefficiency and waste, and heaping abuse on cits and State officials because of increasing expenditures, there may be some comfort in the report of John K. Norton, director of research for the National Education Association, to the effect that the percentage of income paid for taxes is smaller in the United States than in any other country of the world.

Modern taxes are based on the theory that the man with an income of $2,000 should not pay as high a per cent of his earnings as a man with an income of $7,000. The United the $7,000 income, compared with the leading | relief in this respect. Its failure does not nations of Europe. Mr. Norton's figures show | reduce the need for constructive legislation that the income per capita in this country is three and one-half times that of the foremost continental European nations. The yearly per capita income here is 1.7 times that of British subjects. Likewise America's accumulated wealth is far ahead of any other nation in the world.

In spite of the fact that the average citizen of a man in humble circumstances, by the same comparison. Mr. Norton found that 18.6 per cent of the national income of the principal countries of the world goes for taxes. The governmental units of the United States collect but 10.2 per cent of the annual earnings of the inhabitants.

This does not mean that every possible economy has been effected and that the States should keep on extending their lavish expenditures. But it does mean that the taxpayers of the United States are in a relatively fortunate position.

HENRY R. JÓNES.

The Washington Post records with deep sorrow the death of its late managing editor, Henry R. Jones. After a lingering illness Mr. Jones suffered a stroke which terminated his life.

In an age when notoriety counterfeits fame, and when merit is supposed to lose some advantage unless it resorts to "publicity," it is well to cite examples of exceptional ability and worth, accompanied by a wholesome disregard of public self-seeking. Mr. Jones was not contemptuous of the good report that should attach to an earnest life: He cherished the regard of his associates. But his efforts were not contaminated by any element of selfishness. In his own way, throughout many years, he contributed to the public welfare, content to make the contribution worth while, and not asking for any payment in publicity or acclaim. While he was doing this work he was cultivating his own intellect and character, so that he became one of the best-read men of his time and was still more capable of rendering useful

Mr. Jones was a native of Illinois, and a graduate of the Iowa State College at Ames. He worked through the stages of newspaper work to become managing editor of the Des Moines Leader, and later managing editor of the consolidated Des Moines Register and Leader. In 1903 he joined the staff of The Washington Post, serving first as news editor and then as managing editor until his last illness. His devotion to duty was a marked characteristic, but his many contacts and ever broadening spirit gave him delight in the midst of labor. He made and held steadfast his friends as they knew him better; and the personnel of The Washington Post loved him and now mourn his departure.

GROWTH OF AIRMAIL.

From a small beginning eleven years ago the airmail system now transports 480,000 pounds of matter a month over 26 separate lines. Generally, the service is excellent. At times planes are held field-bound by fog or adverse weather conditions, and the mail has to be forwarded by train, but in the great majority of cases use of the airmail stamp saves time. Recently a New York newspaper undertook to trace a number of airmail letters through their journey from sender to addressee, and found that the airmail is "contributing a speed to commercial and personal correspondence that could not be otherwiobtained." At the same time, it found numerous cases wherein "delays detracted unwarrantedly from the benefits and disparaged the entire system of airmail." In an organization as complex and experimental as the airmail system delays are to be expected. Generally, they are of two types, the first involving great distances between airports and postoffices, and the second involving errors of judgment on the part of airport operating personnel when called upon to reroute consignments of postal matter by air. The first cause of delay will be removed when airports are brought closer to hearts of population and when "ferry" planes will rush mail from the airport to the postoffice. The second will be obviated when better schedules are worked

The day probably is not far distant when all first-class postal matter will be carried through the air at rates no greater than those charged at present for railway dispatch.

GAMBLING IN AGRICULTURE.

The Senate has rejected the Caraway bill designed to prevent fictitious sale of cotton and grain in future markets. It appears that the sole opposition to the measure came from a group of senators who contended that it would interfere with legitimate "hedging" on the cotton and grain exchanges. Senator Caraway seems to have sensed the situation accurately when he declared before a vote was taken that "more senators are going to vote against this bill without knowing what the measure is than possibly against any other that has been pending."

The bill was not aimed at legitimate sale of crops before they have matured. It was designed simply to abolish speculation in 'paper" grain and cotton, and to prevent sale of these staple products where there is no intention of delivery. Senator Frazier offered evidence that last July when the wheat from Oklahoma and Kansas was going on the market, speculators sold more than 50,000,000 bushels of wheat that did not exist, and thus forced the price down more than 20 cents per bushel. When the wheat had been marketed at a loss to the farmers, the speculators began withdrawing their fictitious wheat from the market and forced prices up. The producers have little chance to demand a fair return for their grain and cotton under such conditions. The wide divergence between returns received by the farmer and the price paid for agricultural products by the consumer is one of the foremost economic problems confronting the country. Interest in it extends beyond the farm. If the profits of the speculator were eliminated, one of the most important steps in the rehabilitation of agriculture would have been taken. Defeat of the Caraway bill on the ground that it would cripple trading without providing any supplementary machinery for marketing crops does not relieve Con-States stands in the position of the man with gress of the obligation to afford the farmer which will curb the selling of mythical products and at the same time provide a sufficient market in which the harvest yield can be absorbed without deflation of prices.

A measure similar to the Caraway bill has passed the House and may come before the Senate in the extra session. Agricultural leaders should profit by the experience of the in the United States receives the income of a | Caraway bill and bring forward a measure well-to-do man, in comparison with the average that has a better chance of enactment. The citizen of other natious, he only pays the taxes Republican party is committed to a constructive program of agricultural relief, and since gambling in cotton and grain futures is one of the most serious defects in the present situation. Congress should not fail to act on the matter during the extra session.

FINES BY INSTALLMENT.

The National Crime Commission in a report recently made public, suggests that an installment system of fine collecting be instituted. Discussing the overcrowded condition of penal institutions, it says: "The first point is that it is not necessary to commit so many to such institutions. Of the 319,900 individuals committed in 1923, over half-namely. 169,200-were committed for nonpayment of fines. This, we submit, is an injustice, being a penalty for poverty. It is essential that each court, county or municipality create the machinery for collecting fines by installments. A capital idea! Not only would it aid materially in decreasing prison populations, but it would also enable crooks to indulge in crime without waiting to finance their operations. Perhaps an arrangement could be made for fixing fines first, so that crooks would know what their installments would be.

MR. GLASSIE'S NOMINATION.

The nomination of Henry H. Glassie as justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia is an appropriate selection from every viewpoint. Mr. Glassie's long professional career in Washington, and his high standing at the bar, are sufficient guarantee of his fitness to deal with matters coming before the District court. The fact that he has the courage to stand by what he believes to be right ought to count in his favor, instead of furnishing the excuse for partisan criticism.

President Coolidge has disregarded partisan considerations in selecting Mr. Glassie, and the Senate can afford to do likewise for the sake of placing upon the bench a jurist who is both able and independent.

The prompt confirmation of Mr. Glassie's nomination would be most pleasing to the pecple of Washington, who know him and trust

TALKING MOVIES

MAURICE MERMEY, in North American Review.

The movie people began to discuss talkies three years ago, but the screen maintained a mausolean silence. It was realized that the talkies might become the most important innovation in the industry that stood at the crossroads of progress, yet half the producers held that sound film would kill the goose that laid the golden egg, and in their homes they hung a shingle bearing the sometimes wise legend, "Silence is golden." The other half was more imaginative but no more courageous to see such a revolution through. There were few producers, however, who decided to stake their wealth on the judgment that the talkies were a bonanza which would bring new fortunes out of an old mine.

Almost everybody now knows that "The Jazz Singer," featuring Al Jolson, was the comet which streaked across the movie firmament in October, 1927. In this production the mammy singer did a few song numbers most effectively and in addition there was a small amount of spoken dialogue. The production's success was one of the most spectacular in the spectacular history of the industry. Costing. between $30,000 and $50,000 to produce, it grossed $1,500,000. Success for an ordinary first run picture, which costs $200,000 to make, is half a million gross. This comet dropped like a plummet into Hollywood's front yard. It hit some yawning producers, hit some Venuses and Adonises who were statuesque in fact as well as in face, hit 158,000 members of the American Federation of Musicians, that autocratic union which, by providing the machinery and brains for mass bargaining, has done much social good in making the life of the musician less of a stern struggle for existence.

More than 1,000 theaters already have been equipped for sound movies, including some 50 in New York, and 150 additional houses are being transformed every month at the frenzied insistence of operators who fear that profits will go to competitors. The rate of increase will be accelerated as production is geared to meet the demand, and it is confidently expected that in five years the entire industry will have been revamped for the talkie.

When every theater in the country is fitted for sound, when the canned music of a single orchestra of excellent musicians can be heard simultaneously in every hamlet in the land. when every picture is made with music accompaniment and has a specially written score -when this happens the fiddler will go the way of the colorful but economically outmoded telegrapher. The mediocrities of music will disappear and the real musicians who have devoted a lifetime to good music will be assured employment at perhaps higher wages than they

Today a very few good musicians are living in a golden era by producing music for the talkies at the rate of $10 an hour, or $50 a six-hour day. They are happy to earn $200 to $300 a week and yet, in a way, they are a bit sorrowful. As they record "Ramona" or "Souvenir" or something from Chopin, they realize that each song is a dirge-a funeral hymn for the vanishing fiddler.

Last year the game commissioners reported that large numbers of baby deer had been similarly deserted in the wilds. The theory was put forth that an excess of does had made the struggle for existence acute and the offspring were the first victims. Naturalists will doubtless regard the frustration of the maternal instinct as most unusual in both cases: since bears as well as deer are noted for keeping a watchful eye on the young longer than do many other mammals. The Poor Man Can Get Rich on the Installment Plan, Too. By ROBERT QUILLEN=

The Truth Hurts.

HE ordinary middle-class American can't save money. Whether his income is large or small, he lives up to it and ends the year as poor as he began. The installment plan is his salvation because it enables him to buy something useful and expensive with the money that otherwise would be spent for trifles. His only hope of "having anything" is to burden himself with debt and then work his way out. The mere saving of money does not appeal to him because it affords instances the value has been put at no element of conflict, but a debt assumed is something to lick—a game much higher figures. To add to these to win-and he fee's that he is accomplishing something.

But the buying of a home, a car, a radio and an electric refrigerator, nowever commendable, will not provide a living for his wife and children when his buying days are over.

His one and only chance to accumulate an estate that will feed and clothe his family is to buy life insurance. The buying of life insurance is simply the buying of an estate on the rstallment plan. A $20,000 policy is nothing more or less than a deposit of $20,000 Topeka Daily Capital: Probably the in a good bank, achieved by easy payments.

Post Contest Winner to Keep Hair Long; Mary Pickford Likes Her Bobbed.

SOUVENIRS ARE BOUGHT

Special to The Washington Post. Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 18:-Mary Pickford will never let her hair grow long again, she told the 25 girls, who are her guests here for a week, today, when they visited her at her bungalow on the United Artists studio lot.

Miss Pickford will continue to wear her hair bobbed, according to her statement, and it will appear that way in her new talking picture, "Coquette," part of which has been filmed in the presence of her visitors. Many of the girls after listening to Miss Pickford's announcement, dashed to beauty par-lors and had their hair bobbed. Miss Janet Coon, The Washington Post con-test winner, did not succumb to the current fad, however. Her hair will

To do this The Washington Post contest winner had to forego a swimming party at the Ambassador Hotel, which had been arranged by Miss Pickford for her guests.

Souvenirs Are Purchased.

The rest of the day was passed in couvenir buying, the shops of Hollywood being ransacked for curios for the folks at home.

At 1 p. m. tomorrow the Coquette Special will start on its return trip for Chicago.

Miss Pickford will be there to bid her guests good-by and the Hollywood trip will then be only a golden memory for the 25 lucky girls who have been the guests of the world's most samous woman metion picture star.

Miss Coon and Miss Elisabeth E. Poe. of The Washington Post staff, who is Physicians say Cascarets give your bowels as much real exercise as you get from an hour of hard play! They are made from Cascara Sagrada, which stimulates the peristaltic action and exercises the bowel muscles. Oils, salts and ordinary laxatives don't act like Cascarets. These things only produce mechanical or chemical action, which really weakens the bowels.

Every time you take Cascarets your howels become stronger. That's the reason they give lasting relief from constipation, biliousness, headaches, indigestion, bloating, etc. That's why 20 million boxes are used a year!

Impeachment Trial Speeded by Rule on Opinions of Oklahoma Executive.

CASE IN SECOND WEEK

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 18 (A.P.). Opinions as to the competency of Gov Henry S. Johnston were excluded today by the senate court of impeachment which is trying him after it had per-mitted H. E. Sullivan, Johnston's private secretary, to express the conclusion that his chief was incompetent under circumstances that have prevailed during his rule.

The court ruling was expected to exclude considerable testimony projected by the house board of managers, which is prosecuting the governor, and conuently to shorten the trial, which entered its second week today. Much of today's session was devoted to testimony intended to support the board's contention that Johnston is incompenied. tent to continue as governor. The rul-ing, which was made by vote of the members, reversed a former holding, which permitted Sullivan to venture the opinion that the governor was unmonds, who resigned recently as confidential secretary; her uncle, J. R. Armstrong, and George D. Key, Democratic State chairman, and for that reaon was incapable of acting for himself. Old Charges Revived.

Dr. E. C. Mobley, pastor of an Okla-homa City church which Johnston at-tended, revived under questioning of Johnston's prosecutors imputations 'moral turpitude" involving Mrs. Ham-monds and the suspended governor which were responsible for the drafting of a purported impeachment charge by an attempted special session of legis-lators in December, 1927. The pastor related that such reports were dis-cussed at a meeting of eight of the vernor's friends with the governor in an attempt to prevail upon the gov-ernor to discharge Mrs. Hammonds. Johnston, Dr. Mobley said, made a speech of considerable, length defending Mrs. Hammonds.

The meeting, which previously had been described by Mose Anderson, secretary of the grand lodge, broke up at 3 a. m., Mobley said, after the governor had finally promised to accept Mrs. Hammonds resignation if Key could persuade her to tender it. Dr. Mobiey and Key, both of whom participated in the conference, called upon Mrs. Ham-monds, the witness testified, but their suggestion for her resignation was re-

It seems that 115,000,000 Americans CAN be wrong! CAN be wrong!

One of last week's distinguished, but officially secret, visitors to the Capital was Cortland Smith, in charge of all Fox Movitone production. Mr. Smith slipped into the Mayflower with his bride on a surreptitious honeymoon and was gone almost before the talent learned of his arrival.

"The Ghost Talks." While the picture was not what the vernacular delicately terms a "flop" here, it tilted business in no such sensational manner as, for example, "In Old Arizona," Everywhere else it did. Mr. Fox cares to know "how come?" to know "how come?"

Masons to Wear the Potomac. The first offering was the comedy from the pen of Edwin Burke, "This Thing Called Love."

In the general scheme of things.

This Thing Called Love" would never set the world afire. No great shakes of a play, it nevertheless has within its marrow just what the doctor ordered for the National Theater Players. It is served as an excellent offering in which to parade the newcomers to the cast and give the old timers a chance to strut their stuff, as the saying goes. All came off gloriously.

Used to seeing the smooth-running performances usually credited to traveling companies, the transition from the regular road show companies to the permanent organization was easy and graceful, since not a line was muffed by any one member of the cast, nor a situation dimmed by over or under emphasis. It seemed as if these people had taken "This Thing Called Love" and were just coming home with the text. Divided interest between the, play and the players, the audience last night was more keenly observant of the new and old members of the company than and ol had taken "This Thing Called Love" out for a transcontinental tour, and were just coming home with the text. Divided interest between the, play and the players, the audience last night was more keenly observant of the new and old members of the company than of the manner or method of Mr. Burke's playwriting technique. Suffice it to say that this erstwhile writer of one-cry valuatille sketches has, in his first. say that this erstwhile writer of oneact vaudeville sketches has, in his first

an old comedy situation; since almost anything having to do with matrimony is supposed to be funny on stage.
In this play, a young girl who has watched her sister's marriage go to pleces through bickerings and benterings swears there will be none of that in her life. She decides that this thing called love is responsible for all the called love is responsible for all the havoc wrought in marriage marts. So when she finally consents to be a worker in the vineyard she goes in for companionate marriage, minus the love interest. It all works out well until the demon god shoots a couple of shafts into the loveless home—and then the

M'CLOSKEY IS TRIED IN ELECTION FRAUDS

Judge, Certified From Texas as Representative, Wants Indictments Quashed.

TECHNICALITY IS RAISED

Austin, Tex., Feb. 18 (A.P.) .- Holder of a certificate designating him representative in Congress from the Fourteenth Texas District, Augustus J. Mc-Closkey, of San Antonio, today went on trial in district criminal court here charged in five indictments with altering the figures of the November elec-

The defense declared ready for trial In defense declared ready for trial only after a heated battle, in which it falled to overthrow the indictments on technical grounds. The trial was transferred from San Antonio upon motion of Judge W. McCrory, who held that a fair trial could not be obtained in Bear County (San Antonio) nor in any of the other ten counties in the Fourteenth congressional district.

The alleged murders were said to have occurred 13 years ago.

Phraseology Is Attacked.

In seeking to have the indictments set aside today the defense contended that mention in them of "election of a congressman to the House of Repre-sentatives of the United States Consentatives of the United States Congress to represent the Fourteenth congressional district of Texas" constituted an error "fatally defective and insufficient," inasmuch as "congressman" was not recognized as a legal term and the office at stake had not been described properly. The prosecution, through Lamar Selligson, youthful district attorney for Bexar County, contended that the phrascology was sufded that the phraseology was sufciently specific.

The fight over the motion to dismiss the indictments required nearly all the afternoon and the effort to obtain a jury was put over until tomorrow morning. Wurzbach was not in court

SUGAR O. K. FOR TEETH, SAYS M.D.

Any and All Food Should Be Brushed From the Teeth After Eating

Who, with any basis of fact, ever aid that sugar is harmful to the teeth? An eminent British medical authority recently showed that sugar, perhaps more than any other food, tends to promote the flow of saliva in the mouth, which should be conducive to preserving the teeth in a clean state. He also pointed out that sugar promotes the flow of gastric juice and so is an aid to digestion. Rough foods and fruits are thought to be good for the teeth. How could anyone ever eat them without sugar?

The main thing is to eat a variety of healthful foods and to enjoy them. That's what the teeth are for. Medical authorities are alarmed to day that so many girls and also adults are starving themselves in order to reduce weight. This pass-ing fad, in the opinion of many doctors, has become a serious menace to health, frequently causing injuries that are permanent. Est enough nourishing food, and emember that sweetness is nature's perfect flavor. Nothing can take the place of sugar in making the whole meal enjoyable. Eat some citrus fruit—sweetened to taste—at least once a day. Take care of your teeth and enjoy eating. The Sugar

Coolidge on Air Friday Last Time

President Will Receive Degree and Speak at G. W. U.Convocation—Lefount Is Expected to Head Radio Board.

There is an impression when the Tederal Radio Commission reorganizes that Commissioner Harold A. Lefount, of Utah, may be the next chairman. At least, it is known he can have the position if he wants it.

The present chairman is Ira E. Robinson, of West Virginia, but Judge Robinson, having served a year, is expected to be succeeded by another member. It 1s said President Coolidge has made it that he desires the chairmanin other commissions.

Mr. Lafount, who is a Republican, was appointed to the commission in 1927, succeeding the late Col. John F. Dillon. largely upon the recommenda-tion of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah. He has no technical knowledge of radio, but Senator Smoot describes him as "one of the livellest business men in the West. missioner Lafount, who is said to be a man of considerable means, has done much to introduce business-like methods in the Radio Commission's staff operations and is now in charge of of that organization. almost the first one to arrive at the commission in the morning and is own for his long hours of labor. "Now the senior Republican member of the commission, Mr. Lafount has a splendid grasp of radio principles," one of his colleagues said yesterday. "He knows the work of the commission thoroughly and he is efficient and capable as an administrator. He is independent-minded, and his past de-defines have been based upon conscien-tious study of the facts, regardless of influence. He has the confidence of the radio industry and the public." Mr. Lafount represents the fifth zone, which is larger geographically than any of the others and includes Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Washington, egon, California, Hawaii and Alaska.

The voice of Calvin Coolidge will go on the air, probably for the last time while he is President of the United States, next Friday night, Washington's Birthday, through a network of Na-tional Broadcasting Co. stations. The occasion is the midwinter convocation of students at the George Washington iversity.

At the conclusion of the speech both the President and Mrs. Coolidge will be presented honorary degrees as doctors of law. The President's speech is sched-uled to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

No announcement has been made regarding the text of Mr. Coolidge's speech, other than that it will be directed to the student body of the uni-

The broadcast is expected to be made from the university auditorium through WRC in Washington. It will replace a part of the regular Friday night Cities Service program which begins 15 mm-utes before President Coolidge is due to go on the air.

A long list of operatic and concert stars, among which will be found the names of Mary Garden, Feodor Chaliapin, Alma Gluck, Frances Alda, Anna Case, Richard Bonelli, Charles Hackett, Rudolph Ganz, and the Russian Symphonic Choir, have been signed for an all-star broadcast series on the Columbia Broadcasting System to be heard through Station WMAL. Alms Gluck will inaugurate the series at 10 o'clock Sunday night, March 3, and the remainder of the list will follow at in-ternals of two weeks, the intervening weekly broadcasts presenting a band with the famous bandmaster, Arthur

Fish Which Hop on Land

W HEN we speak of fish we com-monly think of them as being in water. Yet there are fish which have learned to live out of water for hours or even days.

Among the fish which spend part of their time out of water are the mud-skippers. They are seen along the coasts of the Indian Ocean, amid rocks ponds in India and alands near Asia.

During dry seasons some rivers and ponds dry up. Instead of simply dying where he is left, the climbing perch makes his way up the bank and travels to the nearest place he can find water.

Perch in our own country could set do that—they have no power of moving while out of water except by aimless flipping around. They die from lack of water for their gills if kept in air too long.

A climbing perch, on the other hand, has a sac inside its body which is used for storing water. This water gives wetness to the gills, so that it may breathe. The fins are almost like those of common fish, but the climbing perch is able to make its body stretch out and then contract. The result is motion on much the same principle

EAR MISS M'DONALD: Two years ago while away at college I made a complete fool of myself and became involved in a serious and discreditable affair with a girl. Due to her character being known I got off light and only my dear dad knew about it at home.

Now I am engaged and truly in love with the most wonderful girl in the world. And she has received two letters which I know were written by this girl They merely suggest that the girl "find a better man" and such inferences. This has upset my flancee and her family as they are not used to such methods, I know it is this girl. The letters are from her town and in her writing. In fact she suggested they be shown to me. What can I do to put a stop to this? And should I tell my flancee, thus worrying her still more. At present I just rying her still more At present I just pretend that I think some one is play-ing a practical joke. She might be-lieve this if the letters were not in the writing of an illiterate. What is your advice? Of course, I have never seen advice? Of course, I have never set the girl since my disgraceful behavi of two years ago. "HOWARD."

The girl who is writing the letters is subnormal as all chronic letter-writers" are, so that is about all that her letters signify. It would be possible to make things most unpleasant for the poor misguided soul, if you cared to do so. But I can not see why you should take her behavior so seriously.

With regard to your flancee I would tell her frankly that you know who is doing the writing and ask her to give you the letters unopened. This sort of thing has been going on for centuries and will as long as life continues. No intelligent person pays the least atten-tion to such erratic conduct. Just accept it as the consequence of having stooped a bit low in your associations. And if it costs you the love of the one woman, consider that the high cost of Frankly I believe both you and the woman you love should have character and intelligence sufficient to carry you through what is merely an annoying incident. The idea of pretending the letters are a joke seems exceedingly stupid to me. But then I am exceptionally frank and so maybe quite wrong in my opinion itingly frank and so maybe quite wrong in my opinion.

In your place I would simply say

"these are the outpourings of a jealous soul," and let it go at that. And keep to your own class hereafter.

TODAY I will describe how I saw the defense allow itself to be massacred in the following deal:

West's fourth Diamond and make two more tricks in that suit. Can you decide whether East's complaint was well founded before reading what follows?

THE ERROR. East made a slip on trick 1. With the Deuce, Trey, Four and Five of Dia-monds in his own hand he should have known that West's six was his lowest and consequently that West had led and consequently that West had led from exactly four. Seeing eight Dia-monds in his own hand and Dummy, he should have deduced that South, had but one and that one must be that Ace or the King. (South would not have bid No Trump with a worthless singleton.) Consequently East would have been perfectly safe in playing the Seven on the first round and keeping the Queen as an entry to cash his two Business Reported Slackening.

Unofficial reports from the Fifth Federal Reserve District, which embraces the Washington area, indicates a seasonal slackening in wholesale and retail business in this territory.

Debits reported were considerably under the previous week and slightly lower than the corresponding week of last year. Sales of fertilizers are said not to have met expectations. Although the cotton and tobacco crops compared (avgraphy with those of the compared favorably with those of the year preceding, prices were lower. Seed sales are below those of last year.

On the other hand, the textile situation in this area is now considered excellent. Although cotton consumption figures had not been released for January streets of the beautiful of the control of the control of F. A. Winslow From Justice Department.

Justice Department.

(Associated Press.)

The contemplated investigation of charges against Federal Judge Francis

A. Winslow, of the southern New York district, yesterday was taken out of the hands of the Department of Justice, where it had rested unofficially for the past five days, and was handed back to the House judiciary committee.

In an executive session yesterday the committee voted to withdraw its request to the department to make a preliminary inquiry into the judge's administration and decided to ask the House for permission to establish a special subcommittee to make the investigation.

The investigation was originally asked.

That this Nation will remain great as long is the people of the Nation remain true to the ideals of Washington and Lincoln Park Clitizens Association last night.

Judge DeLacey referred to Washington as giving this Nation its birth and to Lincoln as saving the Nation. He said he believed that two of Lincoln greatest aims for this Nation were the abolition of human slavery and the abolition of the slavery of drink.

> From the earliest days of the automobile, "Standard" Gasoline has been the leading motor fuel. Today "Standard" outsells any other gasoline by more than two gallons to one.

Experience and research have built the following qualities into "Standard" Gasoline-

Easy Starting - in coldest weather.

Quick Acceleration - necessary in traffic.

Power, Steady and Reliable - for hills and long, tests in every type of car. Safety to Motor - a fuel that cannot possibly injure your engine.

Mileage Efficiency - proved over and over by road

Complete Combustion - it burns cleanly, leaving practically no carbon, and burns completely, leaving no "loose ends" to dilute the motor oil.

Uniformity—you can set your carburetor on "Standard" and forget it, for each gallon is like every other gallon wherever you may buy it.

Availability - "Standard" Gasoline has the further advantage of being easily obtained, as "Standard" pumps are conveniently located throughout the length and breadth of this State.

"Standard" Gasoline solves the fuel problem for the motorist. In "Standard" he gets the best gasoline money can buy. Each year "Standard" reaches new peaks in sales and rises to new heights of public favor.

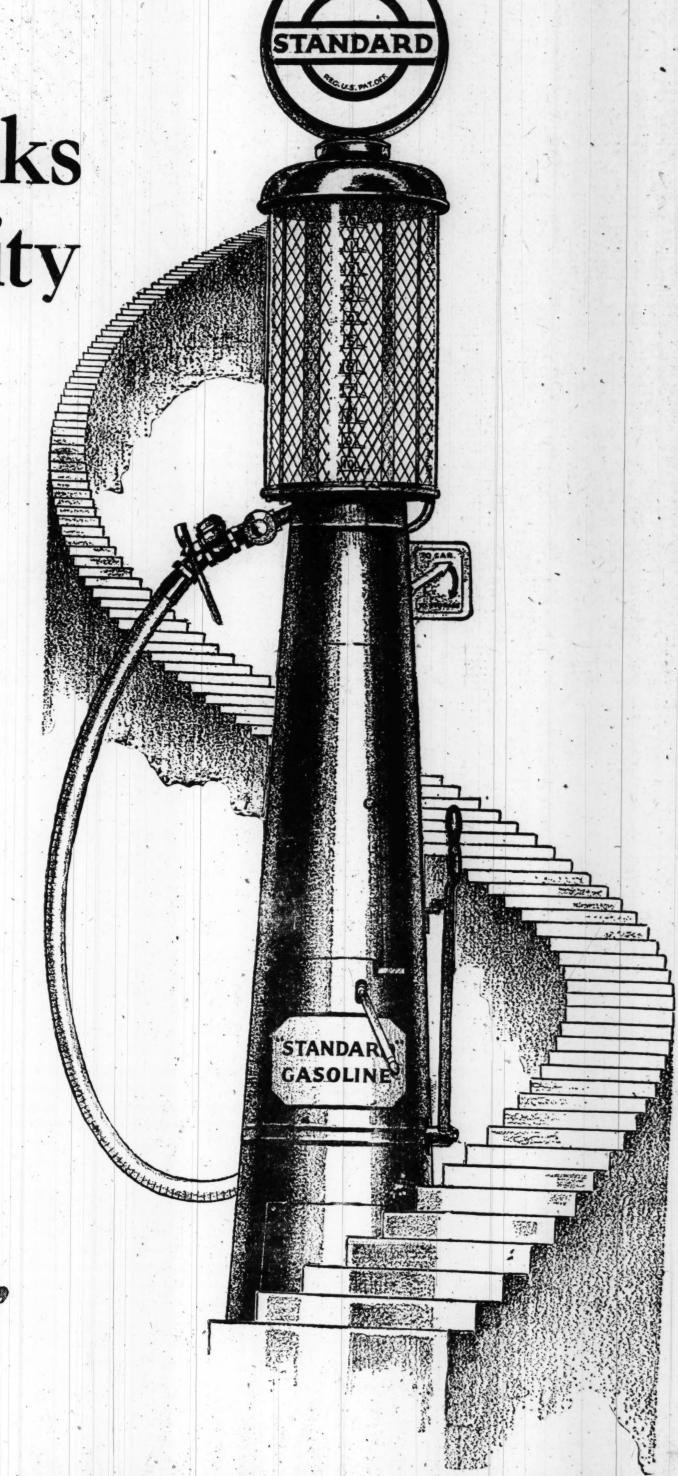

If you are not a "Standard" user, try this product and see for yourself how satisfactory it really is.

There is no truly "anti-knock" motor fuel being sold, except at a premium price. The best known anti-knock" fuel is ESSO, the Giant Power Fuel. It is acknowledged by engineers to be in a class by itself - a genuine "anti-knock" fuel, specially made for use in high compression motors, and in motors that are carbonized from long usage.

ESSO costs more to make, and has to be sold at a small premium over "Standard" Gasoline, but ESSO gives an extra engine performance never before experienced. On sale only at the Silver ESSO Pumps with the ESSO Globes.

George Washington Was Born on Feb. 11

Ripley explains the assertion ade in his cartoon of last Sunday that George Washington was no born on February 22:

The reason why George Washington was not born on "Washington's Birthday," February 22, is explained by the change of the calendar on September 3, 1752. England and her colonies made the change from the Julian Calendar to the Gregorian Calendar. At this time the equinox had retrograded eleven days since the Council of Nice in A. D. 325, when the rule for Easter Day was established. Hence, September 3 was called September 14.

Washington was actually born February 11.

Can Fight But -Stylish Gladiators-

Won't, Is Fear

New York, Feb. 18.—While William Stribling and Jack Sharkey are training in surroundings strangely opposite to their respective reputations in Miami. Stribling in a dry swimming tank and Sharkey at a dog track, two large, inelegant, stumbling, grunting prize fighters will take the ring in the new garden next Friday evening for a contest of skill and science which would seem to be an overwhelming counter attraction.

Paulino Uzcudun will be fighting K.

Paulino Uzcudun will be fighting K Pattino Uzcudin will be ignting K.

O. Christner, and the style of the two athletes, if you could call it style, is such that any one who attends their bout for $10. instead of going to Miami Beach for the other one, will save approximately $300 and see, at a rough estimate, ten times as much fighting. I hope I am not too professional in my estimate of the probable quality of the prize fighting in Miami Beach on the evening of the 27th, but, after seeing William and Jack fifteen or twenty imes, one learns to expect the worst

Paulino, Christner Know Little of Boxing-So Fight With Sincerity. A contest between two athletes who can't fight sometimes develops into hilarious entertainment, but a bout beween two stylish gladiators who can fight, but won't, because they are afraid of irritating one another and being punched on the nose, is always horri-

The Messrs, Paulino and Christner know little about boxing and realize that, if they don't hit, they will be hit, that, if they don't hit, they will be hit, so they always come out of their corners swinging with great sincerity. So the customers, who always go to the prize fights hoping to see serious hitting and enthusiastic sprawling, should be very happy, indeed, next Friday evening. The lads will bleed early and long.

Stribling and Sharkey suggest a professor of English, who knows so much about the syntax, philology, grammar and the rule of shall and will, that he can't ever put together an interest-ing story himself. They know that leading with the right hand is a crime against style and tactics, that he who ducks to his left in slipping a left hand lead is likely to chin himsel; on a

I look for some unprecedented glaring and sowling in the ring at Miami Beach, which should save the performance to a certain extent, for the late Tex Rickard here made a match between the two foremost interpreters of the dirty look now practising in the ring. The historians relate that the hope that the try for the extra late Mr. John L. Sullivan, when he was late Mr. John L. One night young Mr. Stribling put his glare on James Slattery as they sat in opposite corners, and James, when he came out to the center, was so spell-bound that he looked around the ring with a frightened expression and asked the referee: "Isn't there a gate in this ring? How does a fellow get out if he wants to leave in a hurry?" Sharkey's glare always seemed to me to be the superior one. He stares with the poised superior one. He stares with the poised and polished rudeness of an exceedingly well-bred English woman withering an American tourist through a lorgnette at Sompson's on the Strand.

However, the glare is not effective on persons who have little imagination and do not realize that they are hears. and do not realize that they are intimidated. Mr. Sharkey fixed Paulino with a piercing gaze for ten minutes before their fight last year and the first thing Paulino did when they went to the center was to hit him a poke in the eye. And when Sharkey sat in his corner opposite Dempsey at the Yankee Stadium that time, pushing his seconds aside to maintain a clear glaring range at Dempsey, the coarse, callous creature with the three-day stand of barbed with whicher and the

HELEN DEAN and McGONIGLE for what is left. In the opening spasm, the lads with the split turnips tell me the Letellier Stable can win with either one—Big SANDY or BLACK DANCER. LOUISVILLE and BEECHWOOD probably will be fighting it out for the rest of the purse.

BOXING BILL HEARING TODAY

City Sports Leaders to Support Measure; Hopeful of Action.

THE Watson-Updike amateur boxing bill for the District reaches another critical stage today.

Entertaining high hopes of success, a score or more of local proponents of the bill, joined by Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary of the A. A. U. will attend a congressional hearing on the bill intent upon leaving the impression that amateur boxing deserves an existence in Washington and that Washington earnestly wants amateur boxing.

The hearing, to be held by the subjudiciary committee of the House District committee, will get under way at 10:30 a. m. in the office of Representative Clarence J. McLeod, room 377, House Office Building.

Among those expected to attend in the interest of the bill are, besides Ferris, Charles L. Ornstein, executive sceretary of the South Atlantic Association of the A. A. U.; Ernest J. Spitzer, A. A. U. commissioner for the District; Lou Little, athletic director of Georgetown University; Jack McAuliffe, athletic director of Catholic University; Deets Picket, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Prohibition, Temperance and Public Morals, and Zube Sullivan, athletic director of Knights of Columbus.

Passage Sought Before

Passage Sought Before

Expiration of Congress. Less than two weeks remain in this session of Congress during which the bill must come up before the House for a vote in order to escape death with the expiration of the session. The bill was passed unanimously by the Senate last year.

passed unanimously by the Senate last year.

Under its terms, amateur boxing bouts with admission charges and nominal prizes for the winners would be legal in the District. At present amateur bouts are being staged by clubs and colleges but without financial support of the public which, judging from recent crowds attending exhibitions at Georgetown and Catholic universities, is heartily in favor of them.

If favorably considered by the subcommittee the bill will be reported out to the committee-on-the whole immediately, it was forecast yesterday by Representative Updite, co-author of the measure. The last hurdle in its path then would be a vote on the floor of the House.

M'CARTY LEADS BIG FIELD OF NEWSPAPER BOWLERS

Has Total Of 583

Cahoon, of Times, Is Second, With Set of 580.

Beatty Has High Game of 142; Scott Best Post Entrant.

David J. McCarry, of the Star, led the bowlers in the Newspaper Men's tournament over large fields which took the King Pin drives both yesterday afternoon and last night. He turned in games of 116, 121, 98, 133 and 115 for a 585 total, to pass "Bubbles" Cahoon, of the Times, whose 580 was high for the afternoon shift. The latter, winner of the event in 1921, had games of 125, 111, 137, 96 and 111. Mc-Carty had a fine chance to take an even bigger lead, for he missed no less than four single-pin spares in the fourth game, his highest, and several in the other games. Gordon of The Post, finished seventh,

Johnny Baum, of the Star, who won the event in 1922, the last year in which it was staged, finished fifth in the night squad and eighth for the day. Poor first and last games kept him from getting better than 537.

Beatty, of Fellowship Forum, Gets High Game by a Pin.

Walter Beaty, of the Fellowship Forum, high average man in the Ty-pothatae League, was credited with high game, 142, one pin better than Walter Collier, of the Bulletin. The qualification round will continue tonight and tomorrow, with the field tonight and tomorrow, with the field then divided in half—championship and consolation flights—and the elim-ination matches scheduled for Monday dnesday, both afternoon and night, next week 2½ points to 85.

Utilities improved after an early period of heaviness. International Telephone convertible 4½s led the the rally, closing at 114 for a net gain of 1 point. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s rallied 2 points.

Traction Issues Improve. New York Traction issues in anticipation of Supreme Court approval of the plea for a 7-cent fare improved, contrary to the general trend in the rail group. Eight rails sank to new lows for the year, including Burlington general 4s, Denver & Rio Grande issues, and Northern Pacific 3s. New York, Ontario & Western refunding 4s were the strong feature, rallying at the close to 69% for a net gain of more than 2 points.

Weakness in Italian industrials featured trading in the irregular foreign list. Flat 7s with warrants and Pirelli 7s each dropped about 2 points.

Curb Review

New York, Feb. 18 (A.P.).-Although several new soft spots cropped out in today's curb market, the general list rallied briskly after av carly period of heaviness. Buying was based largely on the speculative belief that last week's drastic reaction had been overcome, and that the market was entitled to at least a technical recovery. The rally was aided by the low-ering of the call money rate and the publication of a series of favorable earnings reports.

Public utility shares led the up-turn. Electric Bond & Share soared 11¼ points to 254, and American & Foreign Power Warrants 12% to a new high at 102½. At least half a dozen others, including American Gas & Electric, and Electric Investors, advanced a point or two. United Gas Improvement broke more than 8 points but recovered nearly half its loss.

Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, which recently enjoyed a sensational advance on reports of merger negotiations with Financial & Industrial Securities, broke nearly 30 points to 1901/2 curities, broke nearly 30 points to 180/2 on selling inspired by reports of minor-ity stockholders' opposition to the con-solidation plans, and then rebounded to 207. J. S. Penney, Gramophone Pines Winter Front and Tubize Arti-ficial Silk broke 5 to 12 points on small turnovers.

Berliner-Joyce Aircraft Corporation of Baltimore, Md.

Class A Voting Stock (Non-callable, Preferred and Participating as to Dividends)

Of which 5,000 shares are being issued for material and equipment of the Berliner Aircraft Corporation and 10,000 shares are under a 3 year option at $20 per share.

Berliner-Joyce Aircraft Corporation's capitalization is 50,000 shares Class A stock and 40,000 shares Class B stock. (Class B stock is being distributed for services.) Class A stock is entitled to preference dividends of $1.50 per share per annum, cumulative after January 1, 1930, and in addition thereto is entitled to participate, share for share, with Class B stock in all other dividends. Both Class A and Class B stock have voting rights share for share. Class A stock is non-callable, and in the event of liquidation or sale of assets of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, is entitled to preference of $20 and accrued dividends per share over Class B stock, and shares equally with Class B stock, share for share, in all additional assets.

The following is summarized from information supplied by Mr. Temple N. Joyce, Vice-President of the Company:

History and Business: Berliner-Joyce Aircraft Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Maryland, is the outgrowth of Berliner Aircraft Company, Inc., located in Alexandria, Va. and organized by Henry A. Berliner, son of Emile Berliner, inventor of the telephone transmitter and disc talking machine. Henry A. Berliner, graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has had more than twelve years' experience in aircraft construction and

Recent developments in the production of military aircraft

Mr. Temple N. Joyce received his education at the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute and Lehigh University, and during the war, in his capacity of test pilot for the U. S. Army, flew and tested practically every type of aircraft constructed by the Allied Nations and the Central Powers. He has been connected with the aeronautical industry since 1919, having been chief test pilot and Washington representative of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, and more recently sales manager of the Chance Vought Corporation.

Program for 1929: Following a survey of thirty possible locations, Berliner-Joyce executives have acquired five and a half acres at the Baltimore, Md., Airport, favorably situated because of its proximity to Washington, D. C.

Plans for buildings to cost $150,000 have been drawn and a $100,000 expenditure for machinery has been specified. Completion of the factory is scheduled for May 1st, 1929.

In addition to the three-passenger plane now being produced, the new Baltimore plant will complete tests on a new low-cost metal propellor, an experimental monel metal pontoon being built for the United States Navy and an allmetal two-passenger cabin monoplane which is designed to retail at $2,900.

Military Aircraft Program: It is to be noted that two years ago Congress inaugurated the so-called "Five Year Program" which provides that at the end of five years the Army and Navy should be equipped with approximately 3,000 modern airplanes.

Under this program, practically all new Government aircraft are designed today by individual companies, working under contracts. Production of a successful experimental plane, moreover, is invariably followed by a substantial production order. It is of distinct advantage to a commercial company to have their design staff available for commercial projects, yet supported in the main by military contracts.

The additional value of military plane production in conjunction with commercial plane manufacture, lies in the fact that costs of production for both branches are reduced when a single supervising staff directs the two.

Engineering Skill Keynote of Success: Success of today's leading automobile producers has been the result, in large measure, of the skill and ingenuity of their engineering departments in the early years of the industry. In like manner, the far sighted aviation executives are today bending every effort to attain leadership through the creation of

The roster of Berliner-Joyce engineers and designers is impressive. Among the nationally known experts, aside from the Messrs. Berliner and Joyce, will be:

FRANK S. HUBBARD, Chief Engineer. Massachusetts Institute of Technology, '16, recently head of Technical Department, Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Company. Formerly Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy, where he collaborated in the design of the NC-4 which flew the Atlantic Ocean. Also directed designing of winners in Schneider Cup Races 1923, 1925 and the winners in Pulitzer Cup races of 1922-25.

WILLIAM H. MILLER, Engineer in charge of Research. Master of Science in Aeronautical Engineering, M.I.T., designer of M.I.T. wind tunnel. Lately in charge of Research Laboratory of Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Company. He is considered one of America's foremost aero-dynamic experts.

WILLIAM WAIT, JR., Chief of Design, who, while with Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Company was project en-gineer of the famous racing planes which won world championships. More recently design engineer with Chance Vought Corporation.

EARL P. OSBORN, Engineer in charge of Structures. Graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Mechanical Engineer, 1921. During the war trained as Reserve Military Aviator. Received R. M. A. rating. Employed with the Curtiss Company March, 1922 as engineer. In charge of Propellor Department, 1924-1927, collaborating in the design of propellors used by Pulitzer and Schneider Cup Racers and Italian Cup Racers 1925-1926. Head of Structural Section of Curtiss Company since October, 1927.

T. E. Pell, formerly factory superintendent, Naval Aircraft Factory, Philadelphia, will hold the same position with Berliner-Joyce Aircraft Corporation.

HOUSE PASSES BILL LINDBERGH ADVISED TO EXTEND AIR MAIL

Flying Colonel Hops Off to New York After Day's Visit Here.

SPECIAL PROMOTIONS FOR FLIERS FAVORED

Backs Plan to Have Lanes Connect South America and United States.

Strong indorsement of the Furlow bill to establish a separate promotion list for Army Air Corps officers was expressed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh shortly before taking off at 3:15 o'clock resterday afternoon for New York. He anded at Curtiss Field at 5:45.

Shortly after Lindbergh had impressed leaders in Congress with the necessity of legislation to make available the air mail service of this country to Latin-American countries, the House passed the Kelly bill, which authorizes the Postmaster General to enter contracts with governments, individuals and corporations for the transportation of air mail to and from countries in Central and South America. Under present conditions, air lines in the United States, planning to trans-pert mail to and from those countries, not permitted to receive pay for bound to this country.

Left Letter for Kelly. Lindbergh missed seeing Representative Kelly, of Pennsylvania, author of the bill, on his visit to the Capitol yesterday morning, but left the representative a letter in which he gave it as his belief that the commercial development of Central and South America will be greatly advanced by the use of air transportation.

Col. Lindbergh managed to crowd considerable activity into the brief stay he permitted himself in Washington. During the morning he visited William P. MacCracken, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and the two

He also talked with Repr entative Furlow, himself an aviator, and it was probably a result of this conversation that he came out positively for the Furlow bill. In discussing the bill before his departure he expressed the

Citizens Jury Raises Awards in 3 Cases; Four Others

Get Reduction.

Justice Jennings Balley, in the Disrict Supreme Court, yesterday received rdicts of a jury of seven citizens cm appeals of eight owners of property in the two squares of land adjacent to the Capitol-Grounds, condemned by the Government as a site for the new United States Supreme Court Building, from awards made by a condemnation jury. In three cases the awards were advanced, one was given the same amount as the condemnation jury ward, and the other four awards were lowered.

By the appeal verdicts, the owner of 140 A street northeast was given $13,-000, an increase of $500; the owner of 131 Maryland avenue, $15,500, an increase of $500; owner of 107 Maryland avenue, $11,750, an increase of $250. The owner of 22 Second place northeast was given $8,250, the same award as made by the condemnation juy. The four given $8,250, the same award as made by the condemnation jury. The four verdicts decreasing the condemnation awards were: 102 Second street north-east, $6,250, a decrease of $500; 28 Second street northeast, $8,250, a de-crease of $250; 26 Second street north-east, $9,250, a decrease of $250, and 24 Second street northeast $7,750, a decrease of $250. The jury was com-posed of Clarence A. Aspinwall, Merie Thorpe Robert Earnshaw, William E. Thorpe Robert Earnshaw, William E Peaslee, Hugh B. Thomas, Harvey T. Townshia and Henry W Fisher.

Garrett (Democrat), of Tennessee, to be an associate judge of the same tribunal was favorably reported by the full committee; and later was confirmed by the Senate. Bases for Opposition

The opposition to Glassie presu ably originated among citizens here who were displeased by the way he handled condemnation cases for the Federal Government and by those who ought him when he was a member o the Tariff Commission. It is under stood that Lenroot was opposed be-cause of his having represented some utilities companies when the power
